Nippon Visitor Studying BYU, U. S. Methods

by Gene Barlow
Daily Universe Writer
KIKUO NISHIDA of the Japanese Ministry of Education in charge of student affairs is visiting the Brigham Young University campus to study American student Personnel Services. "Japan is anxious to develop service to help its students help themselves," stated Nishida as he explained that the Japanese student services were not well organized.

ILLUSTRATING their need of an effective student personnel service, Nishida cited that American students were able to obtain "permanent part-time jobs" where as Japanese students "must find a new job every two or three days."

When asked how the Japanese school systems differs from ours, Nishida remarked, "After the war Japan adopted the same educational system as the United States. We are now striving to make adjustment between the system and the social background of the students."

JAPAN NOW has 500 "institutes of higher learning" but because of lack of financial aid many universities have poor facilities, and sometimes faculties. After leaving Brigham Young University Nishida will visit two or three other universities before completing his four months' stay in the United States.

"I was favored with the fine relationships of the faculty and of the students," complimented Nishida. "It was a great fortune for me to spend four weeks here at Brigham Young University."

Pomroy travels to NSA member universities throughout the country, working with NSA representatives, observing student government problems and suggesting new methods and aids of governing and stimulating new areas in which student government can better fulfill its role for the students.

WHILE ON the BYU campus Pomroy discussed campus problems and NSA policies with Murray McInnes, NSA representative.

According to Pomroy students today actively participate on committees with faculty and administrators in a manner unheard of 10 years ago. At BYU students have assumed increasingly larger responsibilities in those areas affecting the college community.

HOWEVER the nature and purpose of student government and student activity are not clearly defined, and each element within the college community tends to think of student government in a different role. Due to these differences of opinion, cooperation is essential before student participation can achieve any degree of significance.

Individual student governments are at present pursuing programs which have little or no educational value. The activities of most student governments have slight relation to the central purpose of the college, according to Pomroy.

WITH THE increased demand on students' time and greater effort necessary to prepare the student for responsibilities beyond college, activities must begin to make definite contributions to these educational needs of the student. In this way these activities will be justifying their continued existence, stressed Pomroy.

A USNSA survey indicates that there is a desire on the part of most student leaders for greater authority and range for their activities, but the students as a group exhibit an apparent apathy to assume the responsibility incurred by such authority, reports Pomroy.

Future Teachers Sponsoring Week To Promote Interest in Education

"SCHOOLS for a Strong America" is the theme of American Education Week this week. The week, sponsored by the National Education Assn., Office of Education, and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, is being sponsored at Brigham Young University by the Student Education Assn. and the BYU Education Dept.

To promote general interest in national scholastic problems and accomplishments and to secure public cooperation and support is the purpose of this observance.

Each day has a special theme. Our Spiritual and National Heritage, Today's Education—Tomorrow's Democracy, Schools for Safe and Healthful Living, Schools for Trained Manpower, A Good Classroom for Every Child, National Teacher's Day, and Schools for United America will be themed.

SEA POSTERS have been put in many buildings on campus, and a special display has been erected in the McKay Building. Fifteen minute skits of each day's theme are being broadcast by the speech department on KBYU.

Grant Misbach, state SEA president, will speak at the assembly. Thursday.

Chapter president, Leslie Mas-on, will speak during the week to civic groups in Provo.

SUNDAY PROGRAMS were given by SEA members in their respective Sunday schools.

Chairman of American Education Week at BYU is Glenn Cooper, Aberdeen, Ida.

Committee members are Charledda Foss and Mara Lee Foss, Coeur d'Alene, Ida.; Sherry Hayes, Freeport, N. Y.; and Caryl Ann Waldvogel, Bensenville, Ill.

Chimes Toll On Credit Til Classes Pay Bill

Brigham Young University's traditional carillon bells toll out the hours but are not paid for fully.

The carillon bells were installed during winter quarter of 1955. At that time the classes of 1955, 1956, 1957 and 1958 agreed to purchase the bells as their class projects.

BYU advanced $17,000 of the original $18,000 purchase with the class of 1955 contributing $1,000. Each class was to pay their respective debts to the school by July, 1958.

At the present time $8,147 of the debt has been paid leaving a balance of $9,853.

Dr. Henry Isaksen, student coordinator, stated in a recent interview: "The classes of 1955 and 1956 have not completely fulfilled their obligation. It is planned to contact alumni involved and ask them to finish the project."

Mike Yoshino, senior class president, reported that seniors will be asked to make their part of the obligation in the form of personal contributions. A senior class committee has been formed to handle the collection.

This year's junior class is now in the process of forming a similar committee to handle its debt.

A studentbody carillon bell committee has been placed in charge of operation and maintenance of the instrument. Members are: Dr. Henry Isaksen, student coordinator, chairman; Monroe McKay, studentbody president; the four class presidents; faculty members J. J. Keeler, Herald R. Clark, Harvey Fletcher, Robert Thomas and Theron Luke of the Provo Daily Herald.

Bigotry Warning Sounded In U.S. By Chief Justice

NEW YORK, (INS)—U. S. Chief Justice Earl Warren warned Monday freedom can be endangered unless Americans guard against intolerance.

The Chief Justice declared that it is "more essential" in the atomic age for people of good will to join together for "peace based on brotherhood."

"The world is in a sorry condition today," Warren told the 28th annual luncheon meeting of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

"Enslaved peoples with the courage to assert their freedom are being subjected for that reason alone to cruelty almost beyond the imagination of Americans."

"Our hearts go out to them and we pray for their delivery. We can do more. We can promote it here at home—in our states, in our cities, in our neighborhoods. The broader the base is here in America, the sounder our foundation is, the more forceful can be in other parts of the world."

Earlier, Warren joined with former Governor Thomas E. Dewey in dedicating the Charles Evans Hughes hall at the Headquarters of the conference.

Freshmen Maintain Suggestion Box For Soliciting Ideas

IN ORDER TO PLAN the best possible program for the ensuing year the freshmen cabinet has decided to maintain a suggestion box for worth-while ideas.

The box will be in the student coordinators office, located in the basement of the Student Service Center. The title, "Sloan Hales, Class of 1960," will be found on the box.

Class officers urge any freshmen who might have an idea for some type of class social or service undertaking to turn in their ideas as soon as possible.

"The cabinet is in the process of setting up a full program for the freshmen class, they sincerely hope that every member of the class will take advantage of this box," stated Hales, Class President.

Ideas suggested so far include: a class skating party, several types of dances, a freshmen paper and a Christmas going away party.

The cabinet has held weekly meetings in order to attempt to provide the best possible program for the freshmen, Hales said. Each member of the class is asked to do his part by turning in suggested projects as soon as possible.

Frosh Duo Provides First-Aid, Ambulance As Student Service

by Tom Worlton
Daily Universe Writer

A NEW FEATURE at Brigham Young University is the ambulance service offered by two BYU freshmen.

The two men, Fred Williams and Ted Myers, are both licensed first aid instructors. Williams is a licensed vocational nurse.

Both have served 11 years as Navy hospital corpsmen. As "older freshmen," they wanted to provide some service for the school.

THIS AMBULANCE service is on call 24 hours a day. The men stand ready at sports events and daytime student activities.

The service will also be provided to any student who needs to be transported to or from a hospital.

The ambulance is licensed by the Utah State Commission and is an active part of the civil defense of Utah County and BYU.

Williams and Myers would like anyone who is interested in helping in this work to contact them. They need helpers for first aid assistants and drivers.

HELPERS WOULD work for two hours a week. Everyone who major activities, but this merely joins the unit will receive a first aid course and card.

They now receive a salary for covers expenses.

This ambulance serves all of Utah County. Any time a student is injured off campus in skiing or other mountain activities he should call the ambulance. The unit will pick him up and the only cost will be for the gas.

WHEN ANYONE is injured in such an activity, a person who is inexperienced in first aid should not try to help, stressed Williams. The first action should be to call for the ambulance, he pointed out.

Whenever one is in need of an ambulance he should contact them through the health center of in an emergency off campus call FR 3-7081.

Five projects will be under consideration. One proposal includes modernizing the "lovers' lane" between the Mae Building and the Smith Field house.

Another project is the placing of a large welcome sign at the entrance of the university.

Philharmonic Concert Honors BYU

by LaRae Carter
Daily Universe Music Critic

THURSDAY night before capacity crowd, Provo was privileged once again to hear one of the world's greatest orchestras.

The program began with "Egmont Overture" of Beethoven in which was exhibited beautifully the fabulous string unison and technically perfect crescendo which thrilled the present or and over again during the evening.

THE BEETHOVEN Symphony followed the Overture and was thoroughly enjoyable, especially the graceful second movement in which the woodwind ensemble was in all "a thing of beauty." The word of concert etiquette: it is not customary to clap between movements or sections of a work such as a symphony.

After the intermission the audience was delighted with the broadly flowing melodies of "The Moldau" by Smetana. The concert then ended with a brilliant performance of Wagner's Prelude to "Die Meistersinger."

MAESTRO VON Karajan was indeed a most inspiring example with his fine conducting, conspicuous in movement, so concerned and intimately acquainted with his music and instruments, he was a thrill to observe as he guided the orchestra through the realms of musical technique and expression. He was a charming personality even to the manner in which so graciously acknowledged the standing ovation from the audience.

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young engineer sells million-dollar equipment to utilities

Selling electric equipment for a utility substation—a complex unit used in power transmission and distribution—requires extensive technical knowledge of the products involved. Men who sell such complex equipment must also know a customer's requirements, what will best fill his needs, and how to sell the merits of their products to the executives who buy such apparatus.

One such man at General Electric is 31-year-old Allen J. Clay, an apparatus sales engineer serving the electrical utility companies in the Philadelphia-Allentown area.

Clay's Work Is Important, Diversified

For Clay, technical selling is not a door-to-door job. As a representative of General Electric, he must be ready to discuss customer needs with vice presidents or help solve intricate problems with skilled engineers. His recommendations are based on his own engineering background, and are backed up by the know-how of the Company's best application engineers. His interest in working with people carries over into his community life, where he takes a part in many local activities—Rotary, Community Chest, Boy Scouts, and his University Engineering Alumni Association.

27,000 College Graduates at General Electric

Allen Clay is a well-rounded individual who has come to be a spokesman for General Electric wherever he goes. Like each of our 27,000 college-graduate employees, he is being given the chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: Whenever fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the Company, and the country.

Educational Relations, General Electric Company, Schenectady 5, New York

ALLEN J. CLAY joined General Electric in 1946 after receiving a B.E.E. from the University of Virginia in 1945. A naval officer during World War II, Clay managed the Charlottesville, Virginia, office from 1950 to 1955.

Delta Phi Picks Dream Girl and Attendants

Helen Wilson, a sophomore from Hatch, was crowned Delta Phi Dream Girl at the annual Dream Girl Dance Saturday night.

Her attendants were Diane Barry, Darby, Pa., and Sherron Meier, Mesa, Ariz. They were introduced during the floor show.

W. Sessions, Delta Phi Treasurer, gave a short talk about the Dream Girl and presented a photograph of the royalty to the queen and her attendants.

To climax the coronation, the Delta Phi quartet sang to the waltz their song, "Dream Girl Delta Phi."

Miss Wilson reigned during the dance and will also travel with Delta Phi chorus on tour during the summer.

The annual dance featured a "Sentimental Journey" through various missions of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Large pictures on the walls depicted scenes from various countries.

Latin American, Hawaiian, European and Korean folk dances were presented during the evening.

Colorful Skin, Hair for Women Predicted by Cosmetic Expert

CHICAGO, (INS)—Nobody will notice whether your nose is shiny in the year 2,000, Madame.

They'll be too busy looking at your purple or orange hair and your pale blue or orange skin makeup, according to a research chemist who now has his own cosmetics business.

And before men start gawking, Dr. Joseph Schultz also predicts that men will be wearing makeup on their faces less than fifty years from now using rouge, lipstick and powder in the current tones women are wearing today.

AS DR. SCHULTZ sees it, "some women who are extreme in their styling, will be applying a two-tone color job—hair dye in one color and face makeup in a directly opposite, contrasting shade."

But even the "old fashioned" girl in the 21st century will benefit from the new cosmetic techniques if she stays away from rainbow colored tones on skin and hair.

Dr. Schultz, who holds a Ph.D. in chemistry, said: "All makeup will be semi-permanent. The wearers of rouge, lipstick and powder will be able to wash their faces and sleep without one trace of makeup coming off."

SO WHAT happens if you choose a color scheme you find objectionable?

"By that time," said Dr. Schultz, "there will be a special preparation to whisk makeup off quicker than any soap or cream does today."

In literally wearing their faces, the manufacturer said, "women can, if they wish, be the same color from head to toe—that includes hair, face, dress and finger and toe-nail polish."

MEN, THE 49-year old manufacturer of cosmetics and skin preparations said, will be forced to use makeup to keep from fading away against vividly painted and preened women."

He said: "Man is the only creature in the animal kingdom where the male is drab and the female colorful."

Besides cosmetics, the chemist said "Baldies" will vanish from public view—not because of a cure for hair fall-out but because "toupes" will be accepted just as eyeglasses are now.

Diamond Jubilee

by Mark Murphy and Jerry Cunningham

Latest returns from the love set reveal that much cooing has been going on despite the recent frigid temperatures.

With Lovers' Lane and other points of interest bottled up by snow and low, low temperatures in recent weeks, it is evident that the monuments to Dianna have been conceived by ambitious snow-seekers.

Stiff competition over the past few weeks has resulted in some women nailing their man and many more making appreciable progress, which could zoom this Leap Year's total victims to an all time high.

Carol Wright and Keith Stephens exchanged wedding promises in the Los Angeles Temple Nov. 2. Both are Sophomores from Oakland, Calif. She is an O. S. Trovata member. They will return to school winter quarter.

Nola Olive, New Brunswick, Canada, and Ray Gallup, Venice, Calif., were recently married in the Salt Lake Temple by Elder Harold B. Lee.

A late summer ceremony in the Idaho Falls Temple united Margie Sue Holland and Harry N. Hill. They are both Juniors from Idaho Falls, Ida.

Kay Shimsel, a sophomore from La Grande, Ore., and Thomas Hawk, Jr., a Freshman from Eagle City, Okla., were married Aug. 1 at the home of the bride's parents. They are living at Glenwood Springs, Colo. and plan to return to school winter quarter.

Cami Los member Dean Smith was recently married to Ronald Burton. Both are from Salt Lake City.

Nancy Elliott, Salt Lake City, and De Austin, Pasadena, Calif., are planning to be married June 5. He is now on an LDS mission in England.

Planning a Christmas wedding are Ray Ely and Jean Brammel. She is a Cami Los member and he is a Delta Phi member. Both Californians, she hails from Oakland and his home is Los Angeles.

Planning a Nov. 20 wedding in the Idaho Falls Temple are Florence Whitworth and Var Manwaring. Both Idahoans, she is from Bancroft and his home is Rexburg. He graduated in 1956.

Skyline Goes On Scoring Spree; Averages 69.3 Points Per Game

by Mark Murphy
BASKETBALL yet?

Skyline conference teams evidently agreed not to defend against each other last Saturday as games reached astronomical scores reminiscent of a popular winter sport.

Denver and Brigham Young treated Denver homecoming fans to a track meet which produced 92 points. The Pioneers tired badly after a wild 45 point first half and hung on the ropes in the latter stages while BYU tried their luck at scoring. Denver out ran the Cougars 58-34 to set the pace for an afternoon of sky high Skyline scores.

WYOMING'S Waddies tired of toying with Montana's sluggish Grizzlies in a 13-13 first half and racked up three second-half scores to win going away 34-13.

For the potent Pokes it was their ninth straight win of an undefeated season and clinched the conference title. The Pokes are also being eyed by several bowl committees.

WYOMING'S rugged line play was the factor in the win with big Jim Crawford pretty well bottled up by the Silvertips.

Utah's slumping Redskins were able to salvage a win after three straight setbacks in overcoming Colorado A&M 49-27 in Fort Collins. It was a case of who had the more porous pass defense, and the oft-beaten Aggies were shown up in this department.

THE UTES could boast only a 14-13 halftime lead but crisp blocks and swift backs broke the game wide open in the second half for the impressive point total.

Utah State's hot and cold Aggies took a 42-20 battering at the hands of a resurgent Idaho Vandal eleven, to keep pace with other conference members in the point race.

A bruising Vandal line gave Aggie passer Bob Winters a battering and took some of the shine off All-American candidate Jack Hill in their convincing triumph.

BIG MEL SCHMIDT, quarterback Gary Johnson and Howard Willis were the big offensive stars for Idaho, but even a 255-lb. tackle got into the scoring act. Jim Prestel ran like a tank awry with an intercepted Winters' pass and "sped" into the end zone for the final Vandal touchdown.

By the time all Skyline teams had collapsed in the showers, a total of 277 points had been scored. This is an average of 69.3 per game. The losers scored a total of 94 points and none of them came close to winning.

Next week may produce some more scores capable of driving defensive experts to drink. Colorado's vaunted Buffalos, now assured a berth in the Orange Bowl, meet Utah's battered Redskins in Salt Lake City. Wyoming's conference champs and one of few undefeated national powers should give Brigham Young's troubled defenses no rest in their Provo tussle.

Jack's used aren't all brand new. Well traveled cars, he has a few. Their cost is low, just call and see. You'll be pleased, we guarantee.

That's Rich

by Rich Hall

AFTER RIDING on the victors cloud for one week following their win over New Mexico the Brigham Young University plummeted earthward again following the debacle at Denver Saturday.

We were not at the ball game, but from what we heard the radio and read in various newspaper accounts of the game was one of the most mixed up affairs the Skyline has seen in a moon.

THE CONFUSION seemed to start about the time the officials decided that since it was Denvers Homecoming they should have five chances to score instead of the usual four down series.

The Pioneers, not wanting to offend the kind-hearted officials scored on a fifth down situation that sounded much like a "Be It Or Not" deal.

PERHAPS we should clue in our down marker man though he feels the Cats could use an extra down every now and then he should just neglect to flip the marker over after a play. I know, we may need an extra down someday.

Later in the game fullback Steve Campora crossed into Denver end zone but fumbled the ball. End Tom Clark recovered but the officials did their best to call that one a touchback and move the ball out to the twenty yard line. Clever call, that one.

WE HAVE FELT this year that we should give the officials the benefit of the doubt on calls that we disagreed with. They are the ones who often see things the people sitting high up don't, likewise miss a few that people sitting in the stands can catch.

But thinks like the two situations cited above are hard to pass. We feel that most officials should at least be able to count.

ACTUALLY the bad calls may not have made much difference in the outcome of the ball game. Denver had a 45-0 lead at a time which is a pretty commanding score to hold after two quarters of play.

We do feel that the Cougars made what can be called one of their best comebacks of the year, even if it was against mostly one and third stringers.

ANY BALL CLUB that can spot their opponent 53 points and then come back to score 34 of their own deserves a pat on the back for staying in the game all the way.

Things look pretty bleak for next weekend when the Cougars boys from Wyoming come galloping into Provo planning on roughshod over the Cats.

But after being humiliated at Denver for two quarters we think the BYU varsity isn't about to let it happen again, especially on their home field.

We are looking for a better ball game Saturday.

Flag Football Final Play Near Badminton Champ Named Soon

Depending on the weather man, the flag football finale will be staged Nov. 14 among the winners and runnersup of the six circuits, announced William Hafen, intramural director.

In case of a tie for first or second place, both teams involved in the deadlock will be given a berth in the double elimination final tournament, two losses being necessary to disqualify any team.

Leading teams to date include

Kuhle Katze, Gastro M, Cdale West, Blackouts, Chis Tigers, Gone Johns, Hous, Tod, D-3, D-5, California Hawaiian Club, Tausigs, Brigadiers.

Seventy-one participants entered the handball tournament, entries have been closed last week, "which has added interest in the already expansive program," said Hafen.

The badminton singles play is rapidly drawing close. The following are vying for the champion: Sloan Hales, Dick Summer, Howard Okimoto, Virgil A. son and Reza Djahandani.

The gallery in the east will provide spectators a chance to see the finals of the badminton tournament, with matches being played to determine the winner.
